

May 2010 Report

Rob Shuttleworth, Chair of the Midlands Meander Association said this week "The genuine, bright, energetic and enthusiastic Bugs are a real MMA success story and make us all proud to be part of the Midlands Meander."

On Wednesday evening, we were thrilled to win the Mail and Guardian Greening the Future Awards in the Education Category. These awards honour and celebrate the achievements of organisations that are playing a role in ensuring a sustained and healthy planet for all people. The judges, who are experienced and forward thinking individuals involved in shaping sustainability in South Africa, were impressed by the creativity and enthusiasm evident in our work. Our biggest fan, Con Roux, Commercial Manager of N3Toll Concession (Pty) Ltd, supporters of MMAEP since 2004, was delighted to hear the news. "N3TC is extremely proud to be associated with the Midlands Meander Education Project. It is one of N3TC's key education projects within our Touching Lives, social responsibility, programme and we are privileged to partner with the Midlands Meander on this exceptional Project. The Bugs bring colour and excitement to the schools in the Midlands together with amazing passion and a touch of their special 'magic' - the essential ingredients for any successful initiative. N3TC congratulates the team on this outstanding achievement, which is well deserved recognition for the incredible work that they do."
